

Sampling training of biochar according to EBC guideline

Part 1: Theoretical training on the basics of Biochar sampling in the context of EBC certification

2021/03/24

Virtual event

Objective:

The target of the virtual training is to convey the basics of sampling regulations, especially the compliance with the requirements of Annex 4 - Representative Sampling, of the Guideline for the Sustainable Production of Biochar, version 9.2G - as of 02.12.2020. Within the training, the procedure for the registration of a batch of Biochar is shown and the basic procedure of Biochar sampling is presented. Part 2 of the training is an applied sampling on site, in which the participants are to carry out an exemplary sampling. As this is not possible due to the current infection control regulations, there will be a separate date for this.
